Aldermen Reject One Bus Terminal Plan

Council Decides to Let Bus Operators Continue Present Routes and Terminal Stops—Police Must Enforce Ordinance Requiring Vehicles to Pull to Curb When Fire Apparatus Approaches—Other Matters.

By a vote of 7 to 5 the common council at the special meeting held Tuesday evening adopted the report of the laws and rules committee which recommended that no change be made in the present routes or terminal stops of the auto bus lines operating between Kingston and the surrounding territory, and rejected Alderman Macholdt's resolution which provided that the bus lines be allowed to use only one terminal, instead of two as at present.

The bus question has been agitating the common council for the past few months when Alderman Macholdt introduced a resolution that required the bus lines to make but one terminal stop. The buses coming into the city from Phoenixia and Ellenville and that vicinity were to use the city terminal; the buses from Saugerties, Rosendale and that vicinity the terminal in the central section of the city, and the Highland and New Paltz bus lines the Strand terminal.

This resolution was referred to the laws and rules committee, of which Alderman William B. Martin is chairman and Aldermen Kullmann, Mann, Keating and President Dittus are members. This committee has met both with the bus proprietors and with some of the business men of the city, and has thoroughly investigated the subject, and Tuesday evening submitted a report which was read.

No Demand for Change.
The report in brief called attention to the fact that the committee had made a careful investigation of the proposed change in routes and terminals and found that there was no present public convenience or necessity to be served by such a proposed change as the Macholdt resolution provided.

Under an ordinance approved November 13, 1919, the several bus lines were granted licenses which designated the routes and terminals where they were to use. These bus lines have been in operation a considerable length of time and the public generally has become accustomed to the various routes and terminals and to make any change now, unless the same would be on the ground of public convenience and necessity, would only confuse the situation and result in considerable annoyance to the public use of the bus lines.

Business Interests Satisfied.
A canvass of the business interests of the city as well as many of those using the bus lines for convenience of travel indicated that the present routes and terminals are entirely satisfactory.

The committee firmly believed that in view of the general satisfaction with the present mode of operation, no change should be made as present convenience and necessity would not be benefited thereby. The committee therefore returned the Macholdt resolution without the approval of the committee.

Ryan Moved to Adopt.
At the close of the reading of the report by City Clerk Doremus a motion to adopt the report was offered by Alderman Ryan and seconded by Alderman Joy.

Alderman Macholdt amended the motion that the report not be accepted as the laws and rules committee had not held a "proper meeting."

"If there was not a meeting tonight then where did the signatures of the committee attached to the report come from?" asked Alderman Kullmann with a smile.

"Some of the committee signed it," retorted Alderman Macholdt, "and yet they did not believe in it."

Alderman Cashman seconded Alderman Macholdt's resolution, and there was further discussion as to whether the laws and rules committee had met or not.

Amendment to Amendment.
"As an amendment to an amendment," said Alderman Cashman, "I move that the committee be discharged and the council act on the Macholdt resolution tonight."

"And I adopt that amendment to my amendment," said Alderman Macholdt.

"My reason for amending the amendment," explained Alderman Cashman, "is to have the Macholdt resolution read over, again so that the aldermen may refresh their recollection of it."

At this point City Clerk Doremus read the Macholdt resolution.

Issues Breaks Tie.
After some further discussion Alderman Cashman called for a vote on his amendment to the amendment and it was lost by a vote of 7 to 6. Due to the absence of Alderman Behrens, who was unable to be present, the question had to be settled by President Dittus voting and he voted against the amendment to the amendment.

Then the vote was taken on the Macholdt original amendment, and that was lost by a vote of 7 to 5, those who voted in

FLEMMING AGAIN BOARD PRESIDENT

At the annual meeting of the board of education held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the offices of the board in the high school H. H. Flemming was re-elected president of the board and Ernest W. Kearney was re-elected vice-president.

In nominating Mr. Flemming, Trustee Van Wagoner spoke of the efficient, attentive manner in which Mr. Flemming had filled the office and of the more than usual amount of time which he had devoted to school work. The nomination was seconded by Trustee Hale and the clerk was authorized to cast one ballot for Mr. Flemming, who was unanimously elected.

Trustees Van Wagoner and Thompson were named as candidates for the office of vice-president but both declined to consider the matter and Trustee Van Wagoner placed in nomination Mr. Kearney for re-election. The nomination was seconded and the clerk was authorized to cast one ballot, and Mr. Kearney was unanimously elected.

Mrs. Thompson acted as temporary chairman of the meeting until the re-election of Mr. Flemming as president of the board.

There was no other business transacted. Trustees Van Wagoner, Hale, Thompson, Betz and President Flemming were present.

BANKS TO DELIVER DAIRYMEN'S CERTIFICATES

The auditing department of the Dairymen's League is now busy tallying the year's deductions for each farmer and preparing to deliver to each dairyman a certificate of indebtedness, representing these deductions. These certificates will bear interest 6 per cent, payable annually, with principal due in five years from date of issue. They will be transferable and will be acceptable at banks as collateral for loans.

These certificates will be ready for distribution early in June. They will not be mailed, but will be distributed through the local banks to the farmers in their localities.

that they would be unable to come for the lunatic for three or four days. This was the man picked up on the Strand the other day, and it was found later that he had escaped from an institution in Brooklyn. The man had grown violent and the men who escorted him to the institution in Middletown had had their hands full in handling him.

"Why A Padded Cell."
Alderman Macholdt could not understand why the man was not kept in Kingston until Middletown could send for him as there was a padded cell for that purpose in the county jail. "Why don't they use that cell?" he asked.

After Public Works Board.
Alderman Macholdt asked if the board of public works had been notified to appear at the meeting that evening and explain why certain streets were not fixed, and the city clerk informed him that a copy of the resolution adopted a week ago had been forwarded to the board, but that the board did not meet until later in the month.

"Then as a matter of courtesy to the board," said Alderman Macholdt, "I move that the clerk notify the board to appear at our next regular meeting and explain why they do not fix the streets mentioned at the last meeting of the council."

"Won't Get Him Anything."
Alderman Cashman said that he did not believe the adoption of such a resolution would get Alderman Macholdt anything.

"From what I can glean," said Alderman Cashman, "they just ignored it and they will probably do the same thing again. They'll politely tell you 'nothing doing, we are running the city.'"

"But they have not had a meeting yet," said Alderman Macholdt, "and so could not act on the previous resolution."

"They have all got a copy of the last resolution," said Alderman Cashman, "for one of the board showed me a copy. They have had official notice of the meeting."

It was then brought out that City Clerk Doremus had sent the board but one copy of the resolution, and it was suggested that the clerk of the public works board had probably made out copies for each board member.

"Then I will withdraw my resolution," said Alderman Macholdt.

Other Matters.
Alderman Joy wanted to know if the finance committee was ready to report on the matter of granting Miss Costello, clerk of the city court, an increase in pay, and Alderman Van Wagoner, chairman of that committee said that he would report progress.

Alderman Joy moved that the stone blocks taken from the Strand last fall be laid on the Chambers street hill. Referred to public works board.

Alderman Joy moved that the cross walk at Hasbrouck avenue and East Pierpont street be relaid, which was also referred to that board.

Macholdt Reconsiders.
The question of whether the board of public works had ignored the council in failing to appear at the meeting that evening again arose, and after considerable discussion Alderman Macholdt reconsidered his former action and renewed his motion that the board be notified to appear at the next regular meeting of the council, which was adopted. The council then adjourned.

GIVENS'S CASE AGAIN ARGUED

Former Payne Employee's Action to Participate in Bequest to Household Workers Heard by Court of Appeals.

The case of Albert Givens against the Oliver H. Payne estate was argued before the court of appeals Tuesday. Former Mayor Canfield, of Brincker, Canfield & Brincker, attorneys for Mr. Givens, argued for an affirmation of the judgment awarded him against the estate by Judge Hasbrouck, which was affirmed by the appellate division. E. DeT. Bechtel, of Carter, Ladyard & Milburn, attorneys for the estate, argued for a reversal.

The decedent, Oliver H. Payne, known as Colonel Payne, died June 27, 1917. He owned extensive lands and property and buildings at West Park, Ulster county, New York, with a large residence thereon, which was used by him at the time of his death and for a number of years previously thereto as a country place and home.

He left a will containing the following provision: "To each person, not hereinbefore named who at the time of my death be in my service and shall then be customarily employed as a part of my household in my house in New York city or in my country house in Ulster county, New York, the sum of three thousand dollars, if he or she shall have been in my service for two years, with the further sum of two hundred dollars for each year or portion of a year, in excess of two years, and the sum of one thousand dollars if he or she shall have been in my service for less than two years."

The plaintiff entered the service of Colonel Payne in June, 1911, and remained continuously in his employ until the time of his death. Plaintiff was customarily employed in said country place for six years prior to the death of Colonel Payne. His service and employment consisted, amongst other things, in the care and supervision of the electrical bulbs and fire alarm, electrical watchman's clock, electrical ice machine, telephone and electrical pipes and appliances for the use of Colonel Payne, and he was required to report at said mansion each morning for work.

Under the provisions of the will, the plaintiff claims to be entitled to thirty-eight hundred dollars. The case was tried before Justice Hasbrouck before a jury in December, 1920, who rendered a decision in favor of plaintiff, with an opinion, in the sum of $4,229.14. The appellate division affirmed the judgment, Justice Woodward dissenting with an opinion.

GRASS WIDOWS ARE ARRESTED

Mrs. Grace Bonessa of Abel Street and Mrs. Ethel Lucas of South Rondout taken on Wall Street.

Mrs. Grace Bonessa of Abel Street and Mrs. Ethel Lucas of South Rondout were arrested on Wall street at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Officers Camp and Welch, and the hearing was adjourned until later in the day, as both officers would not be on duty until that time.

According to the story the two young women told the police when arrested they are grass widows and had spent the night entertaining several gentlemen friends at the carnival over the Higginsville bridge.

It was evident that their story of being at the carnival was true for each girl had a doll that she had won on one of the wheels at the carnival.

Their story of the night's doings was such that the police decided to make a thorough investigation. In the meantime both are locked up in the county jail.

YOUNG JUDEAS BEAT A HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

By bunching their hits in the early frames, the Young Judea team defeated the High School Regulars at McVey's Field Monday afternoon by a score of 4-1. Wolf, twirling for the Judeas, kept the Regulars' hits well scattered and received excellent support. Although Lawrence, of the Regulars, allowed but one hit after the fifth inning, his team mates failed to come across with the stick with men on bases.

FURTHER INCREASES IN LIVING COST REPORTED

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 10.—Further increases in the retail cost of food during the month ending April 15, were announced today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The increases range from 3 per cent in Savannah, Ga., to less than five-tenths of one per cent in Buffalo.

King's Daughters' Entertainment

An entertainment under the auspices of the King's Daughters of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will be held in the church on Friday evening of this week. A pleasing program has been arranged.

Bazar Begins Thursday

A new announcement of the bazar to be held at St. Mark's A. M. E. Church sets the opening as Thursday, instead of this evening.

JURY AWARDS CORNELL $450

For Damages Sustained When His Car Was Hit By Fricke's—Next Action in Supreme Court Is Over Stone Crusher Rental.

The jury in Supreme Court which heard the evidence in the action brought by William H. Cornell against Karl Fricke, an action to recover for damage to plaintiff's automobile, late Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $450.

An action brought by Ray Conway, et al. against Henry E. Fox Construction Company, Inc., was taken up for trial Tuesday afternoon. The action was brought to recover for rental of a stone crushing plant which plaintiff leased to defendant for crushing stone for the repair job to the spillway of the Ashokan reservoir at Spillway and for the amount of certain repairs to the plant which plaintiff claims were made necessary on account of the use or misuse which defendant gave it while it was being used. The amount sought is $1,266.

It appears that defendant rented a stone crushing plant from plaintiff in October 1920 for a sum of $250 a month, the plant to be returned at the expiration of use in as good condition as before, subject to ordinary wear. Plaintiff claimed that the plant was in good order when delivered to defendant and that it was capable of crushing 80 cubic yards of rock a day. Defendant had about 1,600 cubic yards of rock to crush and in the defense sets up a counter claim for damages alleging that the plant was not in good order when delivered and that by reason of the condition of the plant he was unable to crush more than from 10 to 40 cubic yards a day and that the work was thereby delayed at considerable expense.

After spending some $274 for repairs, the plant, which is one of the Universal Road Machinery Company's crushers, worked "like a charm" according to defendant but before the plant was finally put in good working order defendant claims that he lost $1,000 in time and money and brings his counter claim to recover.

Mr. Conway testified that the plant had been at work near Haverlate and that it was in good order when delivered, that he saw the plant taken to the Spillway job and worked on the machine for a few days until Mr. Fox put one of his men in charge. He claims that when the machine was returned it was damaged, the boiler of the engine was injured and that certain beltting was never returned. That by reason of the misuse of the machine while it was in the hands of Mr. Fox he was compelled to make repairs at considerable cost to the rental of the engine and since its delivery has spent a considerable sum in placing the plant in order.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler appears for plaintiff and Mr. Frank O. Frank, Well and Strouse, with Newton Fessenden appears for defendant.

MAY QUEEN PICKS HER ATTENDANTS

The Senior Class at the high school is planning for May 12 one of the most joyous and bright May Day festivities ever to be witnessed in Kingston. The Queen of the May is to be Miss Sanchen Barmann, the choice of the class. In a Senior meeting the age-old tradition of having the president of the class for the prime minister was upheld when Blair Muller was elected unanimously to this position.

Along with the thousand and one things which the May queen has to solve is the choice of her attendants. This year Miss Barmann has chosen the following girls to follow in her train: Miss Ethel Schwab, Miss Marjory Tillson, Marion Bruckner, Margaret Myer, Miss Crissie Becker and Miss Katherine Dean.

Mr. Lewis has decided to have the exercises start at 9:15 o'clock in order that the parents may attend and so that there will be no excuse for the usual tardy students missing any of the revelry.

The exercises will start in the auditorium and after the pleasures of the indoors will have been consumed the entire assemblage will remove to the campus where the ancient May Pole dance will take place and ever so much more than has ever in the past been presented.

The time which elapses before the court of the queen makes its appearance is generally passed with songs in the auditorium. It is hoped that Mr. Dodge will be able to lead the songfest this year.

The Prisma Society will provide for the sale of ice cream and candy.

Transactions in City Realty

Harry Kieffer and Elizabeth Kieffer have sold to Frank Weisbaum and Dorothy Weisbaum premises on the easterly side of Prospect street.

Peter Buley and wife and Myrlyn B. Zelliff have sold to Mrs. Cora A. Van Deusen, Fred F. Van Deusen and Sanford G. Van Deusen premises on the westerly side of Pine street.

Convention Not Coming Here

The twenty-fifth annual state convention of the Daughters of America, which was scheduled to be held in Kingston this year, will be held instead at Middletown, where it will take place on September 6 and 7.

Russian Reply Made "Straddles" Main Issue

Eighteen Typed Pages Discuss Conditions of Allied Recognition in Way to Leave Room for Further Negotiations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Genoa, May 10.—The Russian reply to the Allied memorandum of conditions for the eventual recognition of the Moscow soviet government, which was handed to the Allied delegates today, is understood to be a more or less vague document neither accepting nor rejecting the Allied terms.

London, May 10.—The Russian reply to the Allies' note on conditions for recognition and aid for the soviet, was handed to the Allies at Genoa at 10.30 this morning, according to a despatch to the Evening News.

The Evening News despatch says the reply consisted of eighteen typewritten pages and that it takes a careful course between rejection and acceptance of the Allied conditions.

FIRE DAMAGES WARREN HOME

Wynkoop Farms At Old Hurley Scene of Chimney Blaze That Was Finally Put Out By Kingston Fire Department.

A serious chimney fire at the Wynkoop Farms, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Warren at Old Hurley, late Tuesday afternoon resulted in an appeal being made to the Kingston fire department for help and Chief Chipp and the combination chemical extinguisher and pumper responded.

The fire had burned through the chimney to the outside of the house and destroyed part of the siding to the roof. At one time the entire house seemed doomed without outside help and it was then the appeal was made to the Kingston fire department for aid, as a brook running near the house would enable the pump to do most effective work.

Residents of Hurley who flocked to the house, aided Mr. and Mrs. Warren and the farm employees in checking the blaze until the arrival of the Kingston firemen, who completed the job quickly, both with the chemicals and pump. Several rooms were soaked with water and chemicals and other parts of the house badly smoked, but Mr. Warren estimates that the damage will not exceed five or six hundred dollars.

The Wynkoop Farms is one of the best known farms in Ulster county and the house, which for many years was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wynkoop, is one of the finest in this part of the state. For several years the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau held its annual picnic at the farm by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Warren.

SPLENDID GIFT TO LIBRARY

Famous Rothschild Collection of Letters and Autographs Now Property of the French Nation.

The French national library has just been enriched by a great gift on the part of Baron Edmond de Rothschild, who has handed over to it the incomparable collection of historic autographs collected by his mother, Mme. James de Rothschild.

It is known all over the world as the most complete and valuable collection of letters and autographs of illustrious persons.

The collection includes letters from most of the former kings and queens of France, including Philippe le Bel, Francois I, Henry IV, Marguerite de Valois, Catherine and Marie de Medici, and Marie Antoinette.

There are also letters from eminent public men like Sully and Colbert, leading soldiers such as Gaston de Foix, Conde, Turenne, and Marshal Saxe, to say nothing of artists, poets, and writers like Villon, Corneille, Racine, and Mme. de Sevigne.

NEAR EAST RELIEF
DRIVE MONDAY

Dr. Cady and Other Local People Approve Project—State Director Answers Pertinent Questions by Reference To Report For 1920 Showing That But 3 Per Cent Of Collections Went For Salaries.

On Tuesday afternoon at half past four o'clock, there was held at the Y. M. C. A. parlors a meeting preliminary to a Near East campaign to be put over in this city, beginning next Monday. Admiral Francis J. Higginson presided at the opening of the meeting. Others present were besides the out of town men here in the interest of the campaign, Postmaster William C. DeWitt, Samuel Watts, Lewis Coe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rev. Mr. Clarke, the Rev. Mr. Hughes, Frank Matthews, Mrs. G. F. Rice, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Rev. Mr. Stowe, the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis. After briefly and pertinently addressing the meeting, Admiral Higginson read letters of regret at inability to be at the meeting, from Mayor Crane, from John D. Schoonmaker who, while interested in the success of such a campaign, as was Mayor Crane, wanted to know about how large a percentage of the funds raised would go for relief work and how much for salaries. Mr. Schoonmaker also asked in his letter whether or no the Near East Relief did not duplicate some other relief work in Armenia, say the Red Cross. There were also letters from J. Graham Rose and A. D. Rose, regretting that they could not be at the meeting.

Admiral Higginson then asked Postmaster DeWitt to take charge of the meeting for him, which he did, calling first upon Dr. Campbell, state chairman of the Near East Relief work.

Dr. Campbell briefly spoke answering the questions in Mr. Schoonmaker's letter especially. He said that the Near East Relief Committee is a Congressional organization, obliged to have its accounts audited, made into a report and presented to Congress for its approval or disapproval. According to the Congressional report for the year ending December, 1920, the last issued, this Committee had received $60,000,000 and had expended $2,000,000 for salaries, etc. In other words, for every dollar received about 97 cents went for relief work and 3 cents for salaries, etc. Nor is the Near East Relief Committee a duplication of effort. Just after the signing of the armistice, in revenge for the aid which the Armenians gave the Allies during the war, the Turks to get square put over one of the most awful of their massacres of the Armenians and then the Red Cross was ordered out of Armenia. The Red Cross before leaving turned over its funds nearly $6,000,000, to the Near East Relief Committee which was made the official body to act in Armenia. In fact the Turks would allow no relief to be given through any other agency.

Probably the one man whom all were particularly interested in hearing from regarding the Near East subject first hand, was the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, just returned from that part of the world. So Dr. Cady was given a particularly cordial greeting. He said that about six weeks ago he, with the party they were with, was in Constantinople where they came into personal contact with the Near East Relief workers. As he and Mrs. Cady had full charge of all social matters on shipboard, they had the opportunity of meeting these people whom they found to be remarkably fine folks. The personnel was splendid and they had full confidence in both the workers and their methods. They spent a whole day on shore with the Relief workers, and their estimate of them was the same on land as on sea; they were proud of them. At one point there was lined up a large number of orphan boys like our American Boy Scouts, clean and standing at attention, making so good an impression that Dr. Cady thought they should have been considered Exhibit A. But with them they saw a great, great many wretched people. It was a cold day in March, but the people were ragged, without shoes. Constantinople has long depended upon Russia for its trade, its business. All that is now cut off. Practically the people have nothing to do. They are without a job. Of course that means they are without money. In addition there are constantly increasing numbers of Russian refugees coming into Constantinople, and they have no work either; in fact, can scarcely keep body and soul together. In restaurants they saw Russian women of culture and refinement acting as common dish-washers. They talked with some of the upper class Russian women, who before the war, as one said, travelled as they did (they spoke excellent English), while now she was glad to get a chance to dance or sing in the dance halls to keep from starving. They were deeply impressed to see a niece of Tolstoy on a bitterly cold night, very poorly clad and with a bad cold and frightful cough trying to sell embroidered dresses. They were selling anything they could and had been able to bring with them out of Russia, in order to keep from downright starvation. Dr. Cady said people ask why, now that the war is over, these people do not help themselves. He said it was as though one would give him the use of 100 acres of rich land outside Kingston where he could make more than a living, he could make money. But he had no horse, no cow, nor other domestic animals, no farm buildings, no tools, no seeds, no money, nothing to make a start with. They are most anxious to help themselves but it will, at best, take years to get ahead and that only with a start given by the people of the outside world. The Near East Relief Committee had the entire confidence of the people. Dr. Cady found, as did the people at Roberts College. Dr. Cady thought they should have the full support of Christian people all over the world.

After Dr. Cady's talk, Dr. Campbell spoke again, going more into detail as to the awful needs in Armenia, etc., but as he had never been on the spot, Dr. Cady's words probably had the greater weight. He stated that the committee was doing one thing which Dr. Cady hinted at, they were now furnishing farm machinery, seeds, grains, etc., for it was fully apparent that given a fair chance, the people would take care of themselves as fast as possible. Just the same, right now, there is food enough at the various orphanages for just three weeks, no more. Then starvation unless more food reaches them. He spoke gratefully of the condensed milk campaign which will be observed in the public and parochial schools next Tuesday, when each child will be asked to give one or more cans of sweetened condensed milk to be sent immediately to the Near East.

Then Mr. Wiltse explained the house-to-house campaign that he with his co-workers hoped would be put over. It consists in the leaving at each house an envelope containing a pledge card, and a short explanatory letter from the local committee. The next day the envelopes will be called for. There will be no talking necessary, and the districts to be worked will be comparatively small. Nor will the fact that some people have already made their contribution through their church conflict with the envelope plan. It will be up to one's conscience entirely whether they feel that they can put a little more in the envelope if they have already made their gift, and there will be no questions asked.

Mr. Coe said he would assist the movement in its campaign amongst the industrial workers. Mr. Watts, for the Rotary Club, and Mrs. Rice, for the Federation of Women's Clubs, both said they could not speak for their respective organizations as such, though both felt that the individual members would all do their part.

So on motion of Mr. Watts it was determined to start the house-to-house campaign for the Near East Relief Committee next Monday, May 15, and the motion was unanimously passed. This afternoon there was to be held at 4:30 o'clock at the "Y," a committee meeting to make further arrangements, and on Friday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of the workers at the Y. M. C. A.

PROTECTION FOR WILD BIRDS

Sanctuaries Recently Established in Lower Gulf Coast Region of Texas—Much Animal Life There.

Three wild-bird sanctuaries have just been established in the lower Gulf Coast region of Texas, under the direction of T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, who has been spending several weeks in that section making a study of bird life. The reservations which have been taken over for the breeding and protection of birds are Green Island, North Bird Island and South Bird Island. These islands already are populated by many birds, some of which are to be found in no other part of the United States. During the research of the lower border region, Mr. Pearson says, he discovered not only practically unknown species of birds, living in the dense chaparral, but he found the wilderness alive with other kinds of wild animal life. He was especially interested in the collared peccary, commonly known in this region as the javelina, or wild Mexican hog. These ferocious animals roam the chaparral by the thousands. Mr. Pearson said:

"The peccary is the gamest and most dangerous wild animal in the United States. The grizzly bear is the only animal which places the sportsman in the same danger. An enraged moose will now and then give a hunter plenty of action, but a wounded peccary will always show fight. And when his companions smell his blood the hunter is in danger of attack from a herd of them."

The peccary is something like a cross between an antelope and a wild boar. It is hunted by the Mexicans for its hide and bristles, and, while its meat is palatable, it cannot be kept like that of the pig. It has two sets of tusks, polished sharp and adjusted almost with the precision of surgical scissors. Mr. Pearson related an incident in which a peccary attacked a hunter, cut through his chaps and hoist, leg and bone. The man was on horseback. The animal charged after being mortally wounded, making a terrible noise by snapping his jaws as he came on. He dropped dead ten or twelve feet from where Mr. Pearson was.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 10, 1922.

Lord Astor can boast of American ancestry also but only his Lady's gets mention. Is it because America is still critical of the voluntary expatriation of Waldorf Astor, Sr., or because the mere husband of the first woman member of Parliament is too unimportant?

Mrs. Pappucio, an Italian woman who shot and killed a man in New Jersey because he "gossiped" about her, expressed great surprise and protested when she was arrested and locked up. She seems to have been under the impression that in America women are free to do such things when so minded.

When thinking of a vacation, give some thought to the rest you need rather than the amount of ground you can cover. Many people come back from vacations to get rested up. When this is the case the vacation does not amount to very much. This means that you have not had half the fun you thought you were having.

It is related that when the German heel was on Belgium, the people of that country never failed to mention in their prayers "the King, the Cardinal and the Minister." The last named, Brand Whitlock, is still remembered on the other side of the Atlantic, having recently been honored by election to the French Academy of Letters.

Before long aspirants for public honors will be working to win in the primaries. Spirited primary contests where the loser is willing to support the winner, and the winner appreciates that the loser had a perfect right to run, help in building an organization. It creates interest among the enrolled voters and makes those who have not enrolled wish they had so they could take part in the race.

The Public Service Commission in a statement recently made public shows where it has ordered more than forty reductions in various rate cases and only granted seven increases, the latter being in electric light cases where service costs were large, due to the scattered populations, making it more expensive for the companies to serve the people. And these increases were small. The members of the Commission have not tried to create any spectacular effects but have been working along the safe and sane lines which have characterized the conduct of the Miller administration.

When the people start thinking about the fall campaign they will commence to think what the Tammany administration did to the State government, particularly as to expenditures. They will remember that when it comes to spending there is no political organization that could compare with the Democratic party, but when it comes to economy that is something to which the Democrats never give any thought. There is little or any chance of distributing favors or patronage by practicing economy. What the Democrats want are jobs, first, last and all the time.

MODERN YOUTH DEFENDED.

A "College Girl" writes from Swarthmore, Pa., to protest against the criticisms of modern youth so much indulged in by "our fond maiden aunts, grandmothers, spinsters and crabbed ministers who have forgotten their own youth." She "firmly" denies "the accusation that the modern generation is going 'straight to the dogs' likewise that college 'proms' are drunken orgies, where the flappers, 'house-party queens' and chorus girls reign supreme." Like some of the critics of youth, she exaggerates, overstating the criticism, which rarely is so wholesale and is usually directed against modern youth in particular, not in general.

But her defense is both readable and welcome because she gives examples to prove that it "is not so." Of one instance, a dance contest, she writes: "The couples were gradually eliminated until only three remained. One couple dancing close together received virtually no applause. The second couple, whose dancing was not quite so extreme, received a trifle more applause. But when the last couple appeared, dancing in a manner that even our grandmothers could have found no fault with, the applause fairly took the house. Naturally they won the prize, and it was public sentiment that gave it to them—the public sentiment of American youth, which threw down the repulsive dancing of the two couples for the clean, wholesome dancing of the one couple."

What do you want to know about Nature subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. How do birds drink?
2. What is the sticky brown stuff from grasshoppers that children call "grasshopper molasses"?
3. Why don't pine and such trees shed their needles as other trees do?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. How do birds drink?
They do not drink in the sense of swallowing water through the mouth, but depend on absorbing a certain amount of moisture constantly through the skin. To get this birds will often travel considerable distances at night to find a damp place, and get their fill. Provided the water supply is sufficient for its needs, the bird gets along on little food; but if deprived of water though well fed, it will grow thin.

2. Where did the potato come from?
Solanum tuberosum, the potato, is said to have originated in Peru and Chile. It was introduced into Spain some time in the 16th century, and also into England, from Virginia, by Sir Walter Raleigh. The potato belongs to the nightshade family, some of whose members are poisonous.

3. Why do roosters always crow between eleven and twelve every night?
We do not believe they "always" do crow at night. Any unusual circumstances, a noise, bright light, etc., might disturb an individual rooster, waken him, and he would then crow because that is his normal note. His crowing would be likely to rouse other neighboring roosters, who would then reply by crowing. As innumerable small disturbances may constantly occur to startle a rooster, at night, his responsive crow seems to be connected with the hour, when really it is connected with causes entirely outside the hour.

THE ROBIN'S MEMORY GOOD.

Judging From Actions of Those at P. N. Chase's.

Editor, The Freeman.
Several years ago I was attracted to some robins trying to disentangle some twine. It finally occurred to me that they were trying to find something with which to line their nests.

Going to the rag bag I selected a small piece of muslin, worn very thin and soft, and tearing it into strips perhaps a half inch wide, and eight or ten inches long, scattered the strips on the lawn. They soon disappeared. Two or three times I did this, the last time watching from the window to see the robin gather them up—not one, but at least a half dozen, and fly away. Later I saw the ends of the strings projecting from the nest which was in a tree near my house.

I resolved to help them at their building each year, but how often we forget!

A few days since my attention was attracted to two robins, hopping along on the lawn and looking wistfully up to the window. Later I saw them on the opposite side of the house in the same expectant attitude. Then it dawned upon me that they were asking for some lining for their nest. I promptly responded—and then three or four times later, only to see that they had gathered up every single piece of the muslin. I have not yet discovered the nest, but know that it is near by.

Now these questions arise—How long do robins live? Were these the same robins which I assisted several years ago?

As to their asking for assistance, I shall never doubt it. Dull as I am to see things, their actions and attitudes spoke to me as loudly as words.

Why would it not be proper for all of us to scatter little pieces of cotton cord, or strips of cloth about our homes in nest building time, and so assist these friends in furnishing their nests?

Possibly it is one of these same birds which often hop along in my garden when I am working in it, and looks to me as if to say "Can you find a worm for me?" Sometimes it comes near enough, and I toss a worm to it, which it quickly takes in its bill and flies away, evidently to feed its young.

My knowledge of birds is very small—my education in that direction was sadly neglected, and I often wish that I could understand them better, and so assist them.

P. N. CHASE.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

Some New Things for the Baby.

2186. Infant's set, consisting of a cap, a sack, a night gown and a dress.

Muslin, cambric, flannel or flannel-ette will do nicely for the night gown, while lawn or nainsook is suitable for the dress, with embroidery, tucking and lace or edging for decoration. The sack will look well in silk, cashmere, flannel, or flannel-ette, and the cap is suitable for lawn, silk or "all-over" embroidery. For the dress of flouncing, it will require 1 1/2 yd. of 36 inch material with 1 1/4 yd. of plain material for yoke and sleeves. Of nainsook or lawn 36 inches wide it will require 2 1/4 yards. The gown will require 2 1/2 yards of 24 or 27 inch material. The cap, 1 1/2 yd. of 18 inch material. The sack requires 1/2 yd. of 27 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

ASST. FOREMAN GAINS 16 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

"I Am Brimful of New Life and Energy and Haven't a Trace of My Old Troubles Left," Declares Rochester Citizen in Public Statement.

"I can't recommend Tanlac too highly for in my opinion it is the best medicine ever sold in a drug store," said Joseph LaForce, 11 LaForce street Rochester, N. Y., assistant foreman in the stock room of the Dunn shoe manufacturers.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was badly in need of something to build me up. My appetite had left me altogether and I was losing ground fast. My food gave me no nourishment. I went down in weight as much as 15 pounds and felt utterly unfit for my work.

"Well the results I got from Tanlac were simply astonishing. In no time at all I was eating like a bear of time and I wanted and I have gained right up sixteen pounds in weight. I am full of new life and energy and feel just as fine as I ever did in my life. Tanlac has done such wonderful work for me that I want to tell everybody I can about the medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists—Advertisement

SWEATERS SHOW CHANGE IN FORM

Russian Blouse Effect Promises to Replace Straight Garment; Belt, Colors.

PURSES AND BAGS ARE USED

Gay Accessories Add to Charm of Latest Creations—Striking Effects in Three-Piece Suits for Country Wear.

There are new developments in sweaters, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, which have caused these highly useful garments to change their form. Innovations lie in the means of belting the sweater, the combination of strikingly opposing colors in one garment and in the collars.

The Russian blouse effect bids fair to replace the straight sweater for the woman who wears exclusive clothes. This effect is obtained through the girdle—that simple article of dress which has been called upon to do so much toward making new fashions during the past year. The evening gown the street dress the house dress the negligee all have depended upon it to bring them into the front ranks of fashionable dress and it has not been found wanting in versatility. Now it must lend its support to the new Russian blouse sweaters.

Sometimes the sweater is belted at a low waistline by means of an elastic band over which is placed an ornamental girdle or it may simply blouse over a girdle. Among the late models is noticed an arrangement of shell rings through which a knitted ribbon girdle passed. Every model shows something different in its style of belting from the ordinary straight cut sweater.

Opposing Colors Combined
Among the newest sweaters are those knitted of artificial silk with beautiful patterns introduced in opposing colors. For instance a cerise sweater will have a design in deep purple a lovely shade of lavender may be relieved by flame yellow and again two shades of mauve may be beautifully blended.

Some new sweaters from Madeleine of Madeleine of Paris represent the newest designs in sweater coats and are typical of the latest developments in garments of this sort.

One is of lavender silk with the pattern in blue. It is belted by a knitted band of the silk. Another shows a very pale lavender silk coat with the pattern knitted in bright yellow. It is belted by means of an elastic band placed low on the inside of the coat. An interesting model is of bright cerise silk patterned in purple. The purple string belt passes through shell rings and draws in the jacket to form the blouse effect.

Sport Bags Accompany Sweaters
Odette of Paris is showing some beautiful hand-knit sweaters and sweater blouses. One of her most striking is named Gersh. The original is developed in black wool with a landscape pattern done in yellow, black and white embroidered silk. A broad shawl collar, cuffs, girdle and pocket bindings are in deep orange yellow.

Black Jersey Blouse With a Chinese Landscape Design Embroidered in Yellow and White.

Morot of Paris is making two-piece suits of knitted fabrics. They consist of a skirt and hip-length sweater coat which is made to blouse slightly by means of a narrow leather belt. One such model in gray has red introduced in diamonds and squares. The coat is made entirely of the gray but is bound with red and has a narrow girdle of red leather. A medallion monogram in diamond form, is worked in red silk on the front of the coat to correspond with the diamond design in the skirt.

Words With Many Meanings
The meaning of a word in Chinese is indicated by the musical tones in which it is uttered. One word may have as many as five different tones, each of which, when sounded, gives the word an entirely different meaning.

consist of a flaring skirt of knitted fabric, skirt and overblouse. Striking effects are achieved in these through the combination of a bright color, such as jade green or orange, with white. For instance, the coat may be of a deep orange, the full sleeves being of the white cuffed with the orange. The overblouse of white, having a collar and cuffs of the orange, is worn with a skirt of the same color.

Collared With Monkey's Pelt.
The three-piece idea is carried out in similar costumes, having capes in place of coats. Two colors are likewise introduced into these capes which have either fur collars or throw scarves in a color to match the design in the material. Monkey fur is very popular on capes and cape coats of knitted fabrics.

While there is the greatest diversity in color in the knitted costume, here, as everywhere else, a few colors become the extreme of fashion. In the dress and suit made to take their places with the tailleur of cloth or the simple little moon dress of silk brown and gray are favorite colors. Great stress is placed on brown used either alone or in combination with gray or beige.

In the purely sport types very unusual shades of the brightest colors are seen such as the above mentioned cerise and purple. Flashes of yellow and black used in union.

Black Jackets Plaided in Yellow
There are smart Russian jackets of black plaided in yellow with long velvety scarves having a pattern faintly outlined in black. Often there is a belt to match the scarf. These are suits consisting of a skirt of black and yellow plaid a yellow blouse and a black jacket.

These are much too fanciful the conservative woman will say. No one will wear them. And the question has been raised on all sides. Will women accept these new knitted things? Not only has this question been raised because of their unusual colorings but because the knitted dress never has been popular as a thing but a sport costume. Put the subject is no longer one for a moment. The public has accepted them. A demand for my particular type of dress is a wonderful inspiration to designers and manufacturers and an incentive to do their very best in that particular line.

The one great difficulty about making sport suits look their best is in choosing the right hat. Do you know that very many women do this thing wrong? While one hat may be quite perfect for the country the same one will not do at all for the city streets. Then when they come to select a sport hat for city wear that is where the whole difficulty arises. They are either too fancy or too plain about it.

And if you have any delusions about this sort of hat being of the inexpensive variety why, there is where you are doomed to disappointment. They are among the most expensive of hats. And because of their unusual outlines their shapes have to be most artistically adjusted before they can be considered to be exactly suitable.

Must Be Suted to Face

The little round turned back brimmed hats are perhaps the most universally becoming. But even these must be adjusted well and suited to the face. You see there is the most awful chance with a hat of this character of making the face sink into insignificance or on the other hand of making it stand out as much too large a unit for any kind of proportion with the rest of the figure. It is a delicate little trick and a point that any woman will do well to consider at length before making up her mind to a final selection.

For summer the leghorns will again be as popular as they were last season especially those that turn away from the face at front and either turn down at back or repeat the upward flare at that angle.

There are many hats made of duxey and tweed, and these are draped most artistically to suit the faces that wear them. But the new hats from Paris and the general tendency right here is for blocked straws or felts to be worn now with sport suits and all the way through the summer.

Without Food for Three Years.

Probably no man could go entirely without food for two months and survive. But a spider has been known to dispense with food for ten months; and a beetle has come safely through a three years' fast.

Feed Your Nerves

Don't whip them—

Here is a delicious Vitamin drink; it restores vitality, aids digestion and tones up the system—not a drug, but a pure food, pure vegetable, yet of richest meat flavor.

Begin today. Drink a cup of Vegex—the delicious vitamin food that is richer in Vitamin B than any other foodstuff. For one week drink it as a broth or as you drink coffee. At the end of one week—(probably within three days) you will feel the results in greater vigor, energy, freedom from nervousness. If you have been listless and tired you will find you now awake with a joyous feeling of renewed youth and strength. Men and women are finding themselves again—proving and testifying to the wonderful results which Vegex is producing for them.

Make This Test For One Week

If at the end of the week you are not entirely satisfied—take back your partly empty jar. Your dealer will refund your money at once.

Why You Need It

Recent dietetic science has revealed startling facts. It has been proven that the majority of people only half alive, only half enjoying themselves, living continually in a state of ill health, simply because they are starving for vitamins, soluble proteins, mineral salts and phosphates.

Lack of these essential in food is largely responsible for listlessness, lack of energy, brain feeling mental fatigue, indigestion, constipation, gas on the stomach and general debility. Vitamin B has been found necessary even to the building and preservation of sound teeth and bones. Recent experiments have shown that so-called "fat" is a direct bearing on practically every phase of life.

Yet in many of our modern foods the life giving essential has been destroyed. Cold storage, overcooking, canning, contact with metal and preserving destroys most of the vitamins.

Vegex will add the Vitamin B, the phosphates, soluble proteins, and mineral salts to your diet.

Made from Yeast

Vegex is a yeast dietetic food. All the life giving essentials all the vitamins of 12 pounds or more of the richest yeast are concentrated into one pound of this truly delicious food. It is richer in Vitamin B than any other food.

When you taste Vegex you will want more because it is so delicious. None of the yeast is lost in the process. It is a pure food, pure vegetable, yet of richest meat flavor.

Used by British Government

Vegex comes from England. During the war the British Government used millions of pounds to keep the armies healthy. Every ounce was needed for underfed Britishers so that the export of Vegex was prohibited by the British Government until long after the war. Now the British Government is setting Vegex in Washington, D. C. as the new standard of the U. S. Senate Restaurant and the U. S. Supreme Court. The world famous Lister Institute of London and St. Bellevue Hospital of New York City both feed Vegex to patients in order to hasten their recovery and to give them strength. It is only a few weeks since Americans were first fed Vegex and the results were pushed. The response has been most gratifying. Already Vegex is being sold in all countries.

Vegex is the richest of all foods in Vitamin B. Its vitamin potency is proven scientifically. Ask for the certificate of analysis from a recognized laboratory. The Vitamin Food Company's products are certified by the nationally famous pure food laboratories, the Weichelt Testing and Research Laboratories of Professor Louis B. Allen. Vegex is endorsed by Good Housekeeping last year.

50 New Dishes

Vegex may be served in dozens. As a bouillon, in soups, with or without butter as a drink, as a sauce or gravy. These are only a few of the delightful new dishes chefs have made from Vegex. With each jar comes a book of recipes. Most people buy Vegex because it is a delicious food. All of us need Vegex because it is richer in Vitamin B than any other food.

Call on Your Dealer

Try Vegex today. Your grocer and your druggist both sell it in 50c, 75c and $1.00 jars. You risk nothing. If after you have used Vegex for a week you are not entirely satisfied, turn the partly empty jar to the merchant from whom you bought it and your money will be refunded immediately. For your health's sake—try Vegex today.

From all parts of the United States prominent ministers and laymen of the church will gather in Des Moines, Ia., for the opening of the 11th annual General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (North). ### Gardener's Novel Theory

Gardeners are often men of strong individual opinions as not a few employers have discovered. But for a curious opinion, held most sincerely, commend us to a gardener working near to a celebrated aerodrome.

"It ain't the drought that has kept back the flowers and the fruit," says this theorist. "The reason goes what come from the flying machines! They poison the air and ruin the gardens."

Karl's Scottish Origin

Leonard Karl (17-11-1904) German, a 20-year-old philosopher and one of the world's immortals was of Scottish descent. His grandfather was a migrant from Scotland named Karl and the name was changed to Karl to conform to the form in Germany.

Look for Oil in Bolivia

A Peru (Brazil) newspaper has announced the arrival in that city of Swedish and German geologists who have been exploring petroleum lands in the department of La Paz, Bolivia. It is stated that the existence of petroleum in that locality is undoubted, but that extraction will not begin for several years, owing to the difficult nature of the country.

THE CIRCUS RHINOCEROS

"I am the Rhinoceros, in case any one should ask, and in case no one does ask I will tell them anyway. I won't be badly treated. I have a lot of spunk that way. I like to be petted."

"Indeed I love to be petted. Now there are many people who don't think a rhinoceros has any affection but they don't know me. I love petting and anyone can do anything with me if they're kind to me."

"I won't stand bad treatment as I said before. And my keeper says he admires me. He admires a creature who won't be treated badly but who will do things if treated well. He says that ought to show people that kindness is the greatest thing in the world."

"Of course I am ugly. I am not a thing of beauty, but, after all, we can't all be objects of beauty. And I have something to be very proud of—very proud of indeed."

"Do tell us what that is," said the Spotted Hyena, from Africa, who was looking rather amused because of the talk the Rhinoceros had been giving."

"Do tell us," said the Camels, as they sat nearby, chewing and moving their mouths from side to side."

"Do tell us," said the Indian Tigris, a beautiful creature who was in the next cage."

The lions were asleep, their paws placed over each other and they looked very gentle as they slept. They were dreaming sweet lions' dreams of raw meat and were not paying any attention to the Rhinoceros."

"Well," said the Rhinoceros, "I am told that they have used my picture on the posters they have around town."

"A Great Attraction."

Of course they have pictures of many of us, but there are always a good many in the picture."

"Now, I have had my picture made all by myself. I don't mean that I have made my own picture all by myself. But I mean that the picture in the poster is of me alone. No other animal is with me."

"I'm alone in my noble glory."

"That sounds fine," said one of the bears, "but it doesn't mean much."

"It means a lot," said the Rhinoceros, "for it means that they think I'm of enough importance to have a poster given up entirely to me. Only my picture is on these posters—one picture of me on each poster."

"There are other posters with lots of you animals on them, but there is only one poster of the Rhinoceros with his picture alone on the poster."

"I am something that attracts people to the circus. In other words I am a great attraction all by myself. And they speak of me as the only rhinoceros of my kind in any circus. They speak of my fine horns and they know that just showing the picture of me will bring people to the circus."

"It is a great honor. A very great honor. But I deserve it."

"Now, the performing sea-lions are very smart, the way they walk on their hind flippers and balance balls and play instruments which make music. They can climb ladders and balance poles on their noses. That is, each one can balance a pole on his nose. I don't mean that any of them have more than one nose."

"Their keeper and master is kind to them and rewards them with goodies to eat after they have done their tricks."

"The bears can walk on stilts and ride bicycles and skate on roller skates and do many different tricks, though I don't believe they like to do all those tricks and I don't blame them. I wish they wouldn't make the bears ride those great high bicycles. It is too dangerous and bears were never meant to do such things."

"The sea-lions enjoy what they have to do and it isn't hard for them to do their tricks, but I don't like all those difficult tricks the bears have to do."

"But, oh, the great joy is to be a rhinoceros, and to have a nice keeper and to have one's picture on a poster with not another picture of any other creature on the poster!"

Terrible Jimmy.

Jimmy, somewhat of a braggart, was telling his father and mother of his experience while out camping.

"All at once I stepped right on a big rattlesnake," he began.

"How did you know it was a rattlesnake, Jimmy?" asked his father skeptically.

"I could hear its teeth chatter in the minute he saw me."

NOTE

UNSCRUPULOUS PERSONS HAVE CIRCULATED RUMORS REGARDING THE FUTURE OF THE PENNANT INDUSTRY IN AN EFFORT TO DISCOURAGE THIS SEASON'S PROSPECTIVE TOURISTS.

IN AN ATTEMPT TO GET THE REAL FACTS WE HAVE INTERVIEWED THE MOST PROMINENT MEMBERS OF THE INDUSTRY AND THE FOLLOWING STATEMENTS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY SET AT REST ANY FURTHER UNEASINESS THAT MIGHT EXIST.— [EDITOR]

"ABSOLUTELY RIDICULOUS"—IS THE WAY ANTHONY FELT DESCRIBED THE RUMORS.—"WE HAVE ON HAND SUFFICIENT PENNANTS FOR EVERY CAR. EVEN WITH THE TORS UP, THE TOURISTS WILL ALL BE AMPLY SUPPLIED."

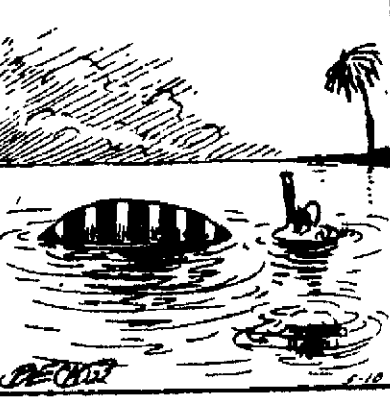

KARL KROSHAY, THE INVENTOR OF THE AUTOMOBILE PENNANT SAYS: "WE ARE OPERATING OUR PLANTS TWENTY FOUR HOURS A DAY AND ARE READY TO MEET THE SEASON'S DEMANDS WITH PENNANTS FOR ANY ROADSTERS TO LIMOUSINES."

KJERO BUGHST STATED: "I HAVE JUST RETURNED FROM ABROAD WITH MANY INNOVATIONS FOR THIS YEAR'S PENNANTS AND ANY TALK OF A SHORTAGE IS UTTERLY ABSURD. NEVER THE LESS PLACE YOUR ORDERS EARLY."

IZZY ISENSTEIN, SUMS IT UP AS FOLLOWS: "SINCE PRODUCTION OUR WORKMEN HAVE PRODUCED A PENNANT A HALF THE FORMER THICKNESS AND WEIGHT TO MEET THE DEMANDS OF LIGHTER CARS. THE SAVING IN GASOLINE WILL MORE THAN REPAY THE ORIGINAL COST."

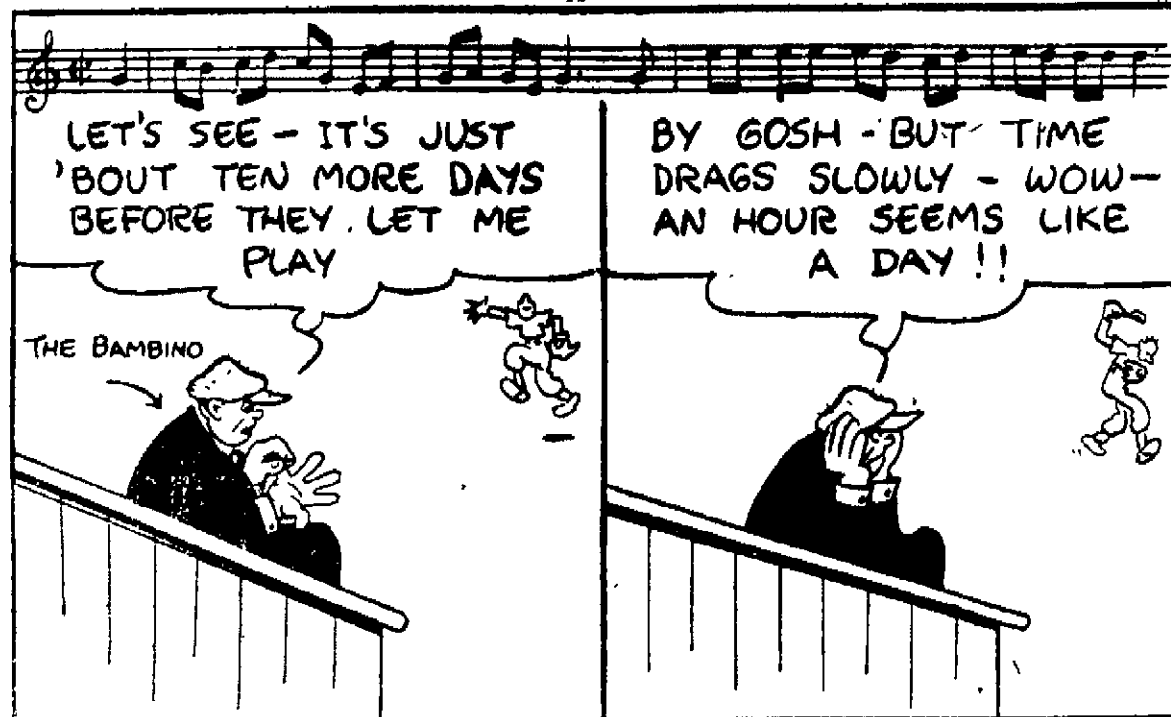

THE DOLLY GIRLS, WHOSE PENNANTS ARE FACTORY EQUIPMENT ON THE BETTER CAR SAY: "OUR NON-SHINABLE TYPE CAN BE ATTACHED PERMANENTLY TO ANY CAR—AS THEY ARE WARMABLE. THIS WILL BE A BIG YEAR BUT WE ARE IN OUR BEST SHAPE TO MEET IT."

THINGS TO KEEP FOR REFERENCE

"They had better eat salt with the philosophers of Greece, than sugar with the courtiers of Italy."

The foundation sauce for all cream soups, scalloped dishes, souffles and croquettes may be kept in mind so that one will always have the right proportion for each dish.

When preparing cream soups or thin sauces the one-to-one proportion is used, one cup of milk or other liquid and one tablespoonful each of butter and flour for the binding. This proportion is used for all soups, scalloped dishes, creamed dishes and almost all sauces used with meat, vegetables and puddings, where a thin sauce is liked.

These sauces are varied by different seasonings and flavors. A tablespoonful always means one filled and leveled with a spoon; a cupful is one-half pint and when buying measuring cups be sure you get a standard half-cup, for a cup may look all right and lack from two to four tablespoonfuls of the standard size.

The one-to-two sauce is the same proportion of liquid with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together; it is the most used for scalloped and creamed dishes. The vegetables are cooked and the creamed sauce added. Scalloped dishes are prepared by using the same quantity of sauce and food, placing them in alternate layers in a baking pan and covering with bread crumbs well buttered by stirring them into melted butter. The dish is then browned in the oven.

The one-to-three sauce is prepared in the same way, using three tablespoonfuls of butter; when melted and bubbling hot the three tablespoonfuls of flour are stirred in, then the one cupful of milk or liquid added and cooked until well done. If this sauce is used for souffles, then whites of the eggs, using three, and equal portions of food and sauce are used; the egg yolks cooked in the sauce and the whites folded in at the last.

The foundation for croquettes is one-to-four, using the same amount of liquid and four tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter. This sauce is used with an equal measure of food and cooked. Then the mixture is shaped into any desired croquette form and fried in deep fat.

Ancient Arcadia.

In ancient Greece, the province of Arcadia was the central and most mountainous portion of the Peloponnesus, or southernmost end of the Grecian peninsula, peopled by peasants of a peaceful and distinctly lovable disposition. So famous did this province become for the simplicity and innocence of its inhabitants, that its name became a symbol of happiness and rural simplicity, later to be adopted by poets—among them Sir Philip Sidney—as the foundation for romances, in which this type of life played a leading part.

Fox Farming Growing Industry.

Although hardly known a decade ago, fox farming is a growing industry in this country, with 10,000 to 15,000 silver foxes being raised in captivity.

Why is it?

Why are there more calls for Gargoyle Mobiloil than for any three other oils produced?

YOU are no different from other motorists in this one respect: Clever salesmanship or striking advertising may sell you a lubricating oil once—but it doesn't make a permanent friend of you.

What does?

The lubricating value in the oil! Nothing else.

More of your fellow motorists are today specifically asking for Gargoyle Mobiloil than for any three other oils combined. They ask for it day after day, month after month. Why?

Economy? Yes! You will find that Gargoyle Mobiloil helps you to secure the lowest possible repair bills—the greatest possible freedom from minor engine troubles—the fullest possible mileage from gasoline and oil.

Quality? Yes! Gargoyle Mobiloil "wears" better and lasts longer than 9 out of any 10 oils possibly can. Why? The next two paragraphs will tell you.

Nine out of every ten other oils offered you are merely by-products incidental to the production of gasoline. Such "oils" are made from crude petroleum chosen for high gasoline yield.

Gargoyle Mobiloil is produced by specialists in lubrication, who choose their crude oil for lubricating properties—refining it to secure the best obtainable lubricating oil.

***

The next time you are out driving, look for the Gargoyle Mobiloil sign. As you come in front of it—stop. Ask the dealer for a 5-gallon can of Gargoyle Mobiloil.

WOMEN CITIZENS

The paper of Mrs. Edgar M. Clark on "Citizenship in Practice," read to the Ulster County W. C. T. U. Institute at Milton Thursday afternoon by Mrs. J. Wells Weaver, was as follows:

Citizenship for women is not new. Women have always been citizens—provided they were daughters or wives of citizens. The vote has not altered their status: They are citizens provided they are wives and daughters of citizens.

For years citizenship sermons have been preached at women. First anti-suffragists preached them as an antidote for suffrage. Now that we vote, they are preached so that women will have plenty to do and will not think too much about politics, or they are preached as a preparation to voting. As a matter of fact, they apply to men as well as women. And these preachings are not new, but the thoughtful and continuous application of the principles advocated in them would be—to say the least—unusual.

In the days of world citizenship, we are to be very practical and take of "town citizenship." Citizenship should be second nature to farmers and housekeepers—for it requires constant repetition—the everlasting keep-at-it—to realize a minimum of results. And citizenship is only extended housekeeping.

The family is fed, clothed, kept clean and educated. The town must be. With clothes and food enough to go around, we need to know how to use them to the best advantage. By this we do not mean charity. Proper care and no waste means food for all.

With village improvement societies, our towns are cleaned up and kept in condition. We have the schools and we need to keep our children in them. It is essential that all be intelligent to be good citizens.

Our cleaning and educating is needed in politics. It is surprising to find how close political influence comes—but that will be a very slow affair.

We are comfortable and entertained at home. We should be so in town. The Lord has taken us to the next larger "place" and sometimes further. I think a reaction will come to bring us adequate amusement at home.

I want to suggest simple but practical things that as citizens we can do for ourselves:

1. Get the most out of food and clothes.
2. Send our children to school regularly.

3. Encourage proper amusements at home.

But, you will say, we could have done all this without voting. True—as I said before—we have always been citizens. However, politics often appear surprisingly near at hand. It is a good thing to be able to state our own opinion for ourselves.

I want especially to bring to our attention one very practical suggestion. Every town needs a district nurse. There is nothing revolutionary about the idea. In some places there are many such nurses. The nurse visits the schools and looks after the health of the school children. You can probably think of many days' absence which might have been saved by proper attention at the right moment. Then, too, the nurse visits those who do not know how to take care of their sick. She visits an hour or two in homes where her regular care makes unnecessary the private nurse, an expensive luxury when not absolutely essential in the prevention of disease. The district nurse accomplishes great things. She has proved worth-while wherever she has gone.

In some cases the nurse is supported by the local Red Cross, in others by the town. Undoubtedly the town should foot the bill. The question of expense is raised at once. The nurse's salary is too much extra for the taxpayer, so someone thinks. The town is afraid to venture. But the nurse, once at work, is not a liability but an asset. She has not only decreased illness in the town but has made for cleaner living conditions among the foreign element. One mother, who did not want the nurse, is now delighted. "She has taught my boy to drink milk. I couldn't get him to touch it. He is increasing in weight and looks splendid." The nurse helps to pay her own salary and often earns more than that. When she stops in to bathe her invalid, she charges a quarter, or fifty cents, or a dollar, according to the time spent. Perhaps you have felt that her services were worth more to you and have paid her accordingly. This money is turned over to the town and, as I have said, the total has been known to pay more than her salary. The taxpayer didn't have a cent added to his tax on the nurse's account.

Some day the district nurse is coming to your town and my town. There probably will be some local objection to the expense of such a novelty—which is no novelty. We may even have a chance to vote to have her. I say the nurse will come "some day." It won't be tomorrow, even if you want one, for there are not enough district nurses to go around. Let us be ready to welcome her when she does "come" and thus help to make our public housekeeping a thing of which we may be proud.

If the members of the graduation class that her the means of getting into close, knew how many heartaches, attended the procuring of clothes for the rest of the class they'd have a thorough understanding of a firm's fact.

Harbingers Of Prosperity.

The cow, sow and hen are getting more recognition at this time than they have ever received and they are a trio that will bring prosperity if people will only stay with them long enough.

This is the great business alibi: "I tried to call you by telephone three or four times, but I couldn't get you. I suppose the girl didn't give me the right number." Nobody can prove that the feller didn't try to call, and while this is one of the things that makes folks cuss the telephone service, it is such a handy, impregnable lie that the chances are it will remain with us as long as telephones and liars exist.

Selfish desire is best described as being the made dope on modern business methods.

YOUNG FOR DAIRY
LEAGUE DIRECTOR

Chester Young of Napanoch, who is supervisor for the town of Wawarsing, was elected director of the fifth district of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association at a convention Tuesday at Chancellor's Hall, Albany, of thirty-eight delegates from seven counties in eastern New York. This is the first convention since organization of the league districts last year, Albany county having previously been in the third district.

The convention was organized under the direction of Fred B. Smith, manager of the Albany office. Delegates unanimously adopted a resolution giving support to the pool-milk selling plan. Similar conventions were conducted by delegates of the twenty-four districts.

Nomination by a district convention is equivalent to election, although all directors must go before a general election next month.

CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA
WHILE EUROPE WAR PAGAN.

Bigelow's Comment on Mrs. Gordon's Religious Research.

Asian Christianity and the Mahayana by (the Honorable Mrs.) E. A. Gordon. 324 pp. octavo, published in Tokyo (Maruzen), 1921. Price, 10 yen—($5).

"Have you met Mrs. Gordon of Kyoto?" These were the first words I heard in Japan when the talk rolled on religion. No: I had not met Mrs. Gordon—but lost no time in repairing my tort, for Mrs. Gordon in the Far East is to church symbolism what John Burroughs is to the interpretation of God's nature in our western world.

She lay stretched upon her couch—helpless—cheerful and kindly welcoming. Her face is beautiful in its modeling, spiritually radiant by its expression of serenity. She has many books to her credit, and like some other great historians, notably Parkman and Prescott, she has paid heavily for her intellectual triumphs—for she is nearly blind. And so this kindly little lady is the one against whom orthodox missionaries level their noisiest artillery, and the rest of the world misjudges her because she is far away. Her books are not published on our local presses; she wastes no time in answering her detractors and I wonder if even these lines ever see the day!

Whilst on the Ganges in 1910 I talked much with a learned Brahmin—and we talked nothing but religion, when I remarked upon the fact that in America religion was taboo in press and on the platform he opened wide his eyes and asked with a gasp: "But what else is there to talk about?" We of western religious habits think to please God by exterminating all creeds but our own petty one. The eastern mind on the contrary welcomes the last new creed, however strange. Any creed is better than no creed; and all creeds are of God so long as they honor the Creator and teach men to love their neighbor. To the great world east of Suez, Mrs. Gordon is a wise woman—in spite of her being a Christian. They recognize in her a follower of Jesus, who yet honors the Christ-like qualities of Buddha and the divine quality of all who search for the truth and who preach it fearlessly we must approach Mrs. Gordon through eastern gateway—and leave behind us a heavy pack of prejudices curiously woven into the fabric of our national, no less than our theological, organism. Foreign missions to China and Japan started from England and America shortly after the opening of the 19th century—and they were not welcomed—on the contrary, they were looked upon as agents of predatory governments who used Christianity as a cloak for disloyal designs. Roman Catholic missionaries, Spanish and Portuguese, invaded the Far East shortly after the Protestant Reformation of Martin Luther; and so much internal strife did these holy men evoke that finally all Christians were ordered out of the Far East in order to preserve the peace in China and Japan.

But Mrs. Gordon carries us far back—to the first century after the resurrection of our Lord—and she lets us feel that Thomas the Apostle reached India and preached even in China. We know that even today there are many Hindoos on both coasts of southern India who are Christians, yet not of the Roman sect. Saint Francis Xavier sought to convert them by means of the Inquisition, but when Holland became Lord of the eastern waters, the Inquisition was abolished and the followers of St. Thomas once more took heart.

At Madras these eyes of mine have gazed on the Mount St. Thomas—where our first Christian missionary closed his eyes—and where today three sets of clerymen—all claiming divine sanction—denounce each the other's heresy and mystify the gentle Hindoo who knows not what heresy means.

Mrs. Gordon dwells pathetically on a period of Chinese history (838 A. D.), when was reared at Sing-An-Fu (the old capital) the famous monolith commending Christianity—albeit a Christianity neither of Babylon and Madras nor of Rome and the Pope. Thus we are forced to note that in an age when our European ancestors were still pagan and barbarous, the religion of Jesus was being welcomed on the Yangtze and Hoang Ho.

But even more striking is the testimony incidentally furnished by Marco Polo in the 13th century to the effect that throughout his extensive journeys he not only found Christian Churches, general, but found also that Christianity was treated by the Great Kublai Khan in Pekin as worthy of imperial support—on a par with that of Jews, Mahometans and Buddhists.

Mrs. Gordon is not a bigot—she deals in the revelations of modern historical research. She has expended a life time in this new field and has tested her findings by visiting learned abbots in the temples of China and Japan. Darwinians weep when archaeology rejoices; and theologians groan when compelled to see that the Christ and the Buddha spoke one language. Are my words calculated to undermine true religion? Nothing could be farther from the thought of

Has to Pay

WHEN an automobile causes loss somebody has to make it good. Naturally, the owner of the car is liable for the damages and the bills that pile up when something goes wrong—HE pays unless he is protected by insurance.

Trouble Broods
For Motorists

A car may burn. It may be stolen. It may be in an accident involving life, or limb, or property. An injured person may bring suit for ruinous damages. A combination of causes may make an owner liable. There is no question about it—an automobile owner who "takes a chance" of driving without insurance plays a dangerous game.

This office will gladly tell you exactly the kind of protection you need, and just what it will cost you to be safe.

EVENINGS WITH JEWISH SINGERS AND PLAYERS

Jewish Art Evenings At The Hebrew School Centre.

The Young Men's and the Young Women's Hebrew Associations under the leadership of the Executive Director David W. Pearlman are arranging for a Jewish art evening at the Hebrew School Centre, Spring and Post streets. The performances have been scheduled for two evenings Tuesday, May 16, and Wednesday, May 17.

A specially trained chorus consisting of the members of the Young Men's and the Young Women's Associations will render Jewish music selections, in addition to Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Feder as soloists. Other prominent soloists will attend the second evening of the entertainment.

Through the efforts of J. Molloy and Mr. Munitz the Musicians' Union Local, No. 215, A. F. of M., have generously offered their services. Prof. Muller will provide the music for the orchestra.

Two fantastic playlets entitled, "Arrows to the East" by S. S. Grossman and "She Must Marry a Doctor," by Sholom Aleichem will be presented. The latter is a Jewish comedy.

Those anxious to hear and see some fine Jewish music and drama are asked to get their tickets in advance.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 10.—The stock market showed a strong tone at the opening today, many issues being in large demand and making sharp advances. United States Steel was 4 1/2 higher at 98 1/2 and Baldwin Locomotive showed a gain of 1 point at 117. Pacific Oil rose 1 1/2 to 66 1/2 and Mexican Petroleum moved up 1 point to 131 1/2. Studebaker selling ex-dividend was 3/4 higher at 118 1/2 and Associated Oil rose 1 1/2 to 122. Dealing in the railroad list was small, New Haven advancing 1/4 to 30 1/2.

Most of the active issues turned weak in the afternoon, losses of from one to two points occurring. Mexican Petroleum dropped 3 1/2 points to 128 1/2. Baldwin Locomotive fell over 2 points to 114 1/2 and United States Steel yielded one point to 97 1/2. The railroad stocks were also lower, Pittsburgh and West Virginia falling 1 1/2 to 34. The market closed weak; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds weak.
